PERSONAL STATEMENT

The alluring witty steadiness of Angelina Jolie merged with the beauty and brawn of Michelle Rodriguez...only blonde.

Adventurous, artistic, athlete...a "sultry tomboy". With the essence of a shielding sister, a zealous confidante, or persuasive and passionate lover who can play versatile roles from wounded hero, and warrior demigoddess, to a highly intelligent, all American adventurer.

American actress and model with experience in the industry since 2002.

Genevieve Hahn

I am here for my soul, to build on my knowledge and expertise. Discover different people, cultures, and experiences. I choose to bring more value and versatility to my life and those around me. I am here to keep things interesting.

To express the emotions of being human, without having permission. This is my therapy. It's never too late to chase your dreams or contribute to society in a way that suits our strengths.

Give people excitement and motivation outside of their normal routine. Offer a different perspective, provide hope we can solve complex real world problems, showcase the capabilities of woman.

Stay true to myself, humble and modest with what I am given, grateful for what I can offer, and aware enough to inject humor and positivity when the going gets tough. Know my limits, but also the extent and when to push my capabilities. Continue strengthening my willpower to dig deep, relate, and truly understand roles and perform them in a way that resonates with others.
